

How we engage and involve people living in Surrey

The Surrey Health and Wellbeing Board brings together Surrey County Council, 11 district and borough councils, six NHS Clinical Commissioning Groups, Healthwatch Surrey, Surrey Community Action and Surrey Police.

Our member organisations use a wide range of traditional and more modern methods to engage with people who are living and working in Surrey.

Campaigns are designed to have maximum impact from minimal, or no budget, and are tailored by audience demographic (e.g. carers, older people, families or people living with specific long-term conditions). We make our information as accessible as possible and use the best channels for the people we are trying to reach.
